

UPPSALA
UNIVERSITET

Why should every place be a city?

www.histfilfak.uu.se/urbananruralspace

URBAN RURAL
SPACE

Why should every place be a city?

The “big city” is a strong ideal in almost all contemporary town planning. Why is that so and how did this ideal emerge? What kind of cities does it result in? And what consequences will this urban norm lead to for small towns, suburbs and rural communities?

The research node Urban & Rural Space welcomes you to a seminar on “the urban norm”.

Speakers

Professor emeritus Claes Caldenby, Architectural Theory and Methods, Chalmers University of Technology
 Professor emeritus Mats Franzén, Institute for Housing and Urban Research, Uppsala University
 Senior lecturer Emil Sandström, Department of Urban and Rural Development, SLU

Venue

Thursday October 12th, 2.15–5.00 PM
 Ekmansalen, EBC, Norbyvägen 14 Changed venue!

Programme

2.15	Introduction by Paul Agnidakis
2.20–2.50	Claes Caldenby and the ongoing urban process in Gothenburg
2.50–3.20	Mats Franzén and the urban hegemony and its limits
3.20–3.35	Coffee break
3.35–4.05	Emil Sandström and the urban back to nature movement that turns around
4.05–4.30	Panel discussion moderator: Anna Micro Vikstrand
4.30–5.00	Plenum discussion
5.30	Dinner at Restaurang Segerstedt (Dag Hammarskjölds väg 7)

Please register to susanne.carlsson@antiken.uu.se at the latest on October 5th 2017!

Contact

susanne.carlsson@antiken.uu.se; anna.micro.vikstrand@konstvet.uu.se;
paul.agnidakis@etnologi.uu.se at www.histfilfak.uu.se/urbananruralspace

